FLANIGAN BILT PUTTERS TO BE FEATURED IN GOLF DIGEST
FB Series Awarded Selection to 2013 Hot List Issue

January 23, 2013

Flanigan Bilt Putters is proud to announce that it has been chosen by Golf Digest to appear in the magazine's 2013 Hot List issue. The Hot List issue, to be published the first week of February, is widely regarded as the preeminent golf equipment rating-guide.

"We are very excited and humbled to be chosen for this year's Hot List," said Ken Flanigan, founder, designer, and President of Flanigan Bilt Putters. "I've felt very strongly that my designs can compete favorably with the best in the world and to have this recognition is a great honor."

Golf Digest selected the FB series of putters which are milled from soft carbon steel and are the product of years of design research by Flanigan. "With the FB series I wanted to take the most popular putter styles of the last fifty years, the ones people really love and trust, and perfect the balance and weight on them to provide ideal centers of gravity," explained Flanigan. "I chose to mill the putters from soft carbon steel to produce the softest face possible without robbing players of the feedback that can be lost with putters that use face inserts to provide soft feel."

The panelists and judges at Golf Digest took note of not only the FB's performance, but also its clean, classic appearance and awarded it 4.5/5 stars in the categories of 'Performance' and 'Look/Sound/Feel.' The FB series includes three styles: a perimeter-weighted head with offset neck; a center-shafted mallet; and a Palmer style, flange blade.

It's not surprising that Golf Digest described the cool feeling of "...making putts with something nobody has ever heard of." It is unusual for such a young, small company to be featured on the Hot List alongside the most well-established, largest golf companies in the world. "It's great to get the validation from the experts at Golf Digest and I'm very grateful that they looked beyond the fact that I have a small company and have not yet been able to advertise, or market, beyond word of mouth."

Founded in 2010, Flanigan Bilt Putters is based in Newbury, Ohio. The company's goal is to produce the very best examples of classic putter shapes with a focus on optimizing the center of gravity and choosing the best-suited materials for each head.
